DEMPSEY'S PUNCH SENDS WILLARD TO THE MAT IN OPENING ROUND OF TITLE BATTLE

DEMPSEY'S R-34 STOPS STORY OF OVER BAY FIGHT OF FUNDY

Won in First Round by a Left Three U. S. Vessels Rush to Aid of Big Druggie

By JACK DEMPSEY, Heavyweight Champion of the World

Takoda, July 5.—It was a whole lot easier than I thought, my defeat of the Champion Joe Willard. I knew I had him right on the red in the very first round when I cracked him clean and true on the jaw with a left hook.

I saw Jack Mayer and manager on the first and I saw that I was the heavyweight champion of the world.

After I landed that big left hook on the jaw of the new champion, I was sure I had him down. I was sure I was going to win. I was sure I was going to win. I was sure I was going to win.

That was a great fight. I was sure I was going to win. I was sure I was going to win. I was sure I was going to win.

Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I., July 5.—The giant Handley Page biplane, Atlantic, which started from St. John's V. F., for New York, was forced to come down early today about forty miles from Halifax, according to word reaching officials at the government field here. Engine trouble forced the big biplane to descend near Parrabero, a seaport town on the Nova Scotian coast.

Washington, July 5.—The U. S. S. Fatilla, a converted steam yacht, together with two United States destroyers, were ordered by the Navy Department this afternoon to proceed to the position of the R-34, believed to be down in the Bay of Fundy, and to render whatever assistance may be possible. The Fatilla was stationed at Cross Island, Maine, on the lower end of Machias Bay, about 45 miles north of the Maine boundary.

Coal Production Dangerously Below The Safety Line Buy Your Coal NOW

The chart below shows the perilous situation which confronts coal consumers today. It is an exact copy of the report issued June 24 by the United States Geological Survey.

That broad, black line you see, marks, in addition, the average daily coal production essential to meet the country's requirements for the present year.

It is the safety line. When the record is below that line, it shows there is not enough coal for the people and their industries.

Production has been on the wrong side of the safety line since January. It promises to stay there unless YOU BUY YOUR COAL NOW.

Seeing is Believing Study the Chart

Coal consumers have failed to buy for use during the coming Fall and Winter. Thus it has proved impossible to keep coal moving from the mines, and production in consequence has badly slumped.

Available mine labor has been reduced by the departure of miners to Europe. More than forty thousand already have arranged to leave.

Motive power and cars are waiting for coal transportation now. Soon the nation's great crops of grains and other products will congest the rails and glut the terminals. It follows that coal transportation facilities will be shortly ruined and coal districts will suffer.

In making public the above chart, the United States Geological Survey warns you as follows:

"The best time in the year for laying in stocks of coal for next Winter is rapidly passing, with no evidence of general buying for this purpose. The rate of production has not varied greatly since the middle of May, and, averaging about 30 per cent. below last year, is apparently just sufficient to meet current consumption."

How can production be increased? How can the requirements of the country be met?

BY BUYING YOUR COAL NOW

There is no other way. No other action can avert the impending shortage. Relief rests with you. Conditions urge you to act.

BUY YOUR COAL NOW!

COMPARISON OF BEER

Beer—Near beer—Next?

PASSING IT ALONG

A woman said to us this week,

"I was watching the Frog Pond. I mean the one in Boston Common, where the boys bathe. I saw several little chaps whose ribs showed plainly I could count them. They were under-nourished. It is a shame at little boys should be so thin and underfed to our big city. There's "Little boys should be so thin and underfed in our big city. There's no question we were not merely lean or thin from boyish exercise and hard work. They were thin from lack of food--of the right kind of food. Somebody ought to say something and do something about it. I wish I could write what I saw."

SHAKESPEARE NOTWITHSTANDING

Among appropriate names appears that of Captain Blizzard of the Sea-going tug Nottingham.

PLACING THE BLAME

In the midst of the prohibition rumpus the Medical Journal comes to us with an article on why is thirst. It reads, in part:

"In a review of the various conceptions regarding the physiological of thirst. Cannon has championed the less generally accepted theory that thirst is a sensation of local origin. According to him, the dominant factor is the relative drying of the mucous of the mouth and pharynx. This may result either from excessive use of the passage for breathing, as in prolonged speaking or singing; or it may be caused by icient salivary secretion. The latter, according to Cannon, represents true thirst dependent on the fact that the salivary glands, which keep the buccal and pharyngeal mucosa moist, require water for their function."

So! The mucosa of the mouth and pharynx go dry and one is thirsty. I have supposed that wartime prohibition was to blame for the prevailing thirst. But mucosa is the sulky one.

only now beginning to see the extent of them—because we have been forced up to now to wear blinders. The powers that were—most of whom still “be”—did not want us to know the marvels the inventors were discovering and devising and manufacturing. Now for the first time we learn of them; and tomorrow C. W. Ripley begins a remarkable story of these magic strides forward of science and invention. This is the only real romance of the late war—and his story is absolutely authentic.

JAPANESE ARE BEING SMUGGLED INTO THE UNITED STATES in great numbers and by a complete and ingenious underground system which is in constant operation, according to official statements coming from Los Angeles. Is a new YELLOW PERIL to confront us—on our own West Coast?

Ella Westerman, a young English girl, tells of four years' spying in Germany—a personal account of exciting escapes, remarkable adventure and devoted service: begins tomorrow.

The ex-Kaiser must be tried, say the allies. Is he worrying? Not so you could notice it. For a time he seemed to be on the verge of nervous collapse, but he has recovered his old cheerfulness, according to the account of those in daily personal touch with him. He has never lost his old-time arrogance. He is a boorish guest in the old Count Bentinck's house, and the Hollander would be glad to get rid of him. Just how he is spending these latter days, and with what he occupies himself, is told in a first-hand story by a special correspondent tomorrow.

WHY—the soles of our feet have the thickest skin—why a new baby looks like both sides of the family—how the fantastic big prehistoric lizards turned into birds—and many other strange or often-wondered-about things, explained by a noted scientist tomorrow.

A real romance is that of Colonel's "Bill" Hayward, dashing hero-leader of New York's famous "Black Tigers" and Mrs. "Bill," the beautiful and wealthy widow of Millionaire Plant, told tomorrow.

Scientists tell why it's better to be sickly than well, if you want to live long.
